

Elena Gianasso. Architect, PhD, associate professor in History of architecture at Politecnico di Torino, Interuniversity Department of Regional and Urban Studies and Planning DIST. She graduated in Architecture at Politecnico di Torino and, in the same university, she obtained a postgraduate specialization and a PhD in Storia e critica dei beni architettonici e ambientali (architectural heritage). She teaches History of architecture in different courses and in the Postgraduate School of specialization in Beni architettonici e del paesaggio. She participates in national and international researchers' groups, investigating questions concerning the period between the early modern and the contemporary ages, analyzing in depth the Seventeenth and Nineteenth centuries, between city and architecture, design and building site.