1. RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

Postdoctoral Fellow at the local research unit of Politecnico di Torino, within the PRIN (Project of Relevant National Interest) research project “Italia di Mezzo. Designing the urban-territorial transition,” funded by the Italian Ministry of University and Research (MUR) and coordinated by the Politecnico di Milano – Dastu.

The research aims to develop a project for the reconversion of the urban and territorial framework of the “Italia di Mezzo,” the part of Italian territory that cannot be classified as either metropolitan or internal areas, with the goal of guiding its socio-ecological transition.

Dates: October 16, 2024 – ongoing (12 months)

Institution: Politecnico di Torino – Interuniversity Department of Regional and Urban Studies and Planning

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Cristina Bianchetti

Postdoctoral Fellow in the project “Torino Beni Comuni,” funded by the Department of Economic-Social and Mathematical-Statistical Sciences at the University of Turin.

The project’s objective is to examine Turin’s experience three years after the adoption of the Regulation for the Management of Common Goods. Using various tools (mapping, interviews with key stakeholders), the project aims to build an archive of experiences, analyzing trends and outcomes.

Dates: July 1, 2024 – October 15, 2024 (3 months and 15 days)

Institution: University of Turin –Department of Economics, Social Studies, Applied Mathematics and Statistics

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Paolo Giaccaria

Postdoctoral Fellow in the project “Social Innovation in Turin: Explorations on Digital Geography and Urban Space,” co-funded by the Department of Economic-Social and Mathematical-Statistical Sciences at the University of Turin and the CRT Foundation of Turin. Within this research, I carry out the following activities:

Collaboration in consolidating the scientific activities of the research group DIGGEO@ESOMAS – Digital Geographies of socio-political and economic spaces (theoretical and field research aimed at drafting scientific articles and submitting them, networking, and preparing national and international projects, as well as organizing scientific dissemination events).

Research focusing on the theme of Digital Social Innovation in Turin, investigating the interaction between digital innovation communities and urban space.

Collaboration in the continuation of the operational/scientific project Orto della SME, with the launch of the project “Commonhood in the Garden,” in collaboration with the Department of Computer Science at the University of Turin.

Dates: July 1, 2023 – June 30, 2024 (12 months)

Institution: University of Turin – Department of Economics, Social Studies, Applied Mathematics and Statistics

Scientific Supervisors: Prof. Paolo Giaccaria, Prof. Chiara Certomà

Postdoctoral Fellow in the project “NLAB4CIT – Network of Laboratories for Civic Technology Co-production,” focused on the “mapping and analysis of digital solutions for the co-production of local public services, supporting the creation of a European network of civic technology laboratories.”

The “NLAB4CIT – Network of Laboratories for Civic Technology Co-production” project, funded by the European Commission and coordinated by the University of Turin, aimed to establish a European network of civic technology laboratories. Within the project, I was responsible for:

Mapping and classifying a range of civic experiences across Europe related to technologies for the digital co-production of public services. This mapping enabled the creation of a digital archive on the FirstLife civic platform.

Conducting qualitative evaluations of some of the projects under review.

Dates: June 1, 2022 – June 30, 2023 (13 months)

Institution: University of Turin – Department of Economics, Social Studies, Applied Mathematics and Statistics

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Chiara Certomà

Postdoctoral Fellow within the research group of the project “Lifelines: Politics, Ethics, and the Affective Economy of Inhabiting.”

The project, funded by the Interdepartmental Department of Sciences, Project, and Policies of the Territory (Politecnico di Torino), aimed to achieve a more precise operational definition of what we term “infrastructures of livability”: the system of spaces, devices, and relationships that enable or ensure a decent level of livability. Within the project, I carried out the following activities:

Technical coordination of the research.

Organization of seminars, communication and promotional activities.

Development of cartographic materials.

Coordination of the editorial project for the book Lifelines: Politics, Ethics, and the Affective Economy of Inhabiting.

Dates: May 1, 2021 – April 30, 2022 (12 months)

Institution: Politecnico di Torino – Interuniversity Department of Regional and Urban Studies and Planning

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Camillo Boano, Prof. Cristina Bianchetti

Research Fellow in the project “Themes and Places for a Future Vision of the City of Cuneo,” as part of the initiative “Studies and Research for the Development of a Preliminary Strategic Framework and Guidelines to Support Upcoming Urban Transformations” (agreement between the Municipality of Cuneo, Politecnico di Torino, and Politecnico di Milano).

Within the research, I worked on the definition of scenarios and design strategies.

Dates: March 16, 2021 – April 15, 2021 (1 month)

Institution: Politecnico di Torino – Interuniversity Department of Regional and Urban Studies and Planning

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Ianira Vassallo

Research Fellow in the project “Development of Cartographic Representations and Mapping to Support Research Activities for the Definition of a Knowledge Framework and a Strategic Development Framework for the Cuneo Territory.”

Within the research, I focused on the production of critical cartographies at the territorial scale.

Dates: June 1, 2020 – September 30, 2020 (4 months)

Institution: Politecnico di Torino – Interdepartmental Department of Sciences, Project, and Policies of the Territory

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Ianira Vassallo

Research Fellow in the project focused on editing the publication “Mass Production Makes a Better World”.

Dates: November 1, 2019 – February 29, 2020 (4 months)

Institution: Politecnico di Torino – Interuniversity Department of Regional and Urban Studies and Planning

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Cristina Bianchetti

PhD in Architecture, City, and Design – Urban Planning Curriculum

Dates: November 1, 2016 – October 31, 2019 (awarded on June 29, 2020)

Institution: Luav University of Venice

Thesis Title: “Producing Italy. Territories of New Production”

Supervisor: Prof. Cristina Bianchetti

Coordinator: Prof. Paola Viganò

Grade: Excellent

PhD Visiting – Erasmus Plus Program

Dates: March 2019 – June 2019

Institution: Tongji University of Shanghai

Research Topic: Spatial Organization of Production in the Yangtze River Delta

Coordinators: Prof. Paola Viganò, Prof. Margherita Turvani (Luav University of Venice)

PhD Visiting

Institution: Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University, Suzhou

Dates: March 1, 2019 – March 31, 2019

Research Topic: Settlement Logics of Italian Enterprises in the Suzhou Industrial Park

Coordinators: Prof. Paola Viganò (Luav University of Venice), Prof. Paolo Pellegrini (Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University)

2. PARTICIPATION IN NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH GROUPS

Member of the research group for the project “CORPUS – Phygital Models of Cooperation in the Retrofitting of Public Space”, a DUT (Driving Urban Transitions) project co-funded by the European Union.

The research aims to investigate methods and approaches for improving public space through material circularity, active community involvement in small-scale intervention design, and the support of digital civic technologies (such as civic blockchains).

Dates: March 15, 2024 – ongoing

Institution: University of Turin (Department of Computer Science and Department of Economics, Social Studies, Applied Mathematics and Statistics) in collaboration with OLA – Open Lab Athens and TU Delft

Scientific Supervisor (Department Esomas): Prof. Paolo Giaccaria

Scientific Supervisor (Department Esomas): Prof. Chiara Certomà

Website: NLAB4CIT

Member of the research group for the project “Lifelines. Politics, Ethics, and the Affective Economy of Inhabiting”, funded by the Department of Interuniversity Studies on Sciences, Project, and Territorial Policies – Politecnico di Torino.

The project aimed to achieve a better operational definition of what we call “infrastructures of livability,” a system of spaces, devices, and relationships that enable/guarantee a decent level of livability.

Dates: July 1, 2020 – August 31, 2022

Location: Politecnico di Torino – Interuniversity Department of Regional and Urban Studies and Planning

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Cristina Bianchetti, Prof. Camillo Boano

Member of the working group for the consultancy project for the Municipality of Cuneo “Studies and Research for the Development of a Preliminary Strategic Framework and Guidelines to Support Upcoming Urban Transformations”, in partnership with the Municipality of Cuneo and Politecnico di Milano (DASU, Scientific Supervisor: Cristina Renzoni).

The research focused on the study of ‘Intermediate Territories’ at architectural, urban, and territorial scales. The goal was to develop readings of Cuneo and its context at different scales and define potential urban regeneration strategies for the city.

Dates: June 1, 2020 – April 30, 2021

Location: Politecnico di Torino – Interuniversity Department of Regional and Urban Studies and Planning

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Ianira Vassallo

Member of the research group for the project “City&Production Lab”, funded by the Department of Interuniversity Studies on Sciences, Project, and Territorial Policies – Politecnico di Torino.

The project aimed to promote the quality of research on topics related to production and its re-articulation with the territory.

Dates: February 1, 2018 – January 31, 2020

Location: Politecnico di Torino – Interuniversity Department of Regional and Urban Studies and Planning

Scientific Supervisor: Prof. Cristina Bianchetti
